

Understanding the Past Three Years: Plandemic Objective

When Tech and Pharmaceutical giants run the world, governments and their militaries mean nothing.

If you are listening to my voice right now you have probably noticed that in the past year that despite your staunchest efforts to remain positive and see the good in things there seems to be an empowered resistance of negativity that has crept into your daily life. The suicide rate is off the charts and people have turned to pharmaceuticals like no other time in history.

People have lost interest in their passions, abandoned their hobbies, lost their connectedness to loved ones and friends, sank into bouts of depression. A growing number of the population now feels empty, scraped out and hollow. Over and over again we have been fed disinformation masked as truth only for narratives to be exposed as false so many times that many of us no longer care. The past 3 years the collective and the awakened have been subject to the most nefarious and well orchestrated scheme in recorded history. The sophistication of the psyops and the incessant barrage of crime after crime of politicians and corporate executives published for all to see and yet the guilty remain unpunished, is specifically designed to demoralize the population.

2.5 years ago I released a video titled “Worldwide Witchcraft Has Begun” in which I explained that the greatest spell ever cast over the human race was being performed. So now 2.5 years later I am not going to tell you what you already know and already feel, no, now I am going to reveal to you what this is all about.

One of the objectives of the pandemic was to de-stabilize the population and interrupt all normalcy and normalize the staying at home of all communities. Stopping travel also aided the agenda of acclimating the population to a computer-dependent lifestyle, to show the public that a computer-dependent lifestyle is possible.

While the pandemic served many other black ops purposes its real effect was introducing a worldwide pattern break that disrupted the continuum of history, which therefore left the public vulnerable and subject to the authority of government more so than ever before.

During this period of world-wide instability the controllers then unleashed a mass media blitz reporting on political situations, medical situations, racial situations and financial instabilities and collapses and a myriad of narratives that when put together make no sense at all.

A careful analysis of the activity and reports released by MSM demonstrate the deliberate mis-information is being released to the public for no other reason than to create distrust, depression, loss of hope, the questioning of one's identity and worth. Saturating the public with such negativity that the population is willingly groomed to accept an escape.

The Elite knew that unless they created a collective discontent for the real reality then very few people would participate in their coming computer Utopia. The REAL world had to be demonized, be made too full of horror, injustice and hopelessness so the artificial world the Elite are preparing to roll out will be a retreat, an escape welcomed by the demoralized individual.

The Elite are designing an alternate reality that they need the populace to willingly accept and agree too. Designing this alternate reality, or Metaverse, began many years ago.

The saturation of advertisements, podcasts, entertainment media and news reports on AI capabilities and revelations of the Metaverse development and applications solidify in the public mind that this is the new reality to come. Real estate in the Metaverse is being bought even as you listen to this. Corporations have already made plans to transfer real world jobs and occupations into their Metaverse counterparts where participants will live out their lives in homes, jobs and communities with governments inside this alternate reality. And on the outside of the Metaverse, in the REAL world, you will stay home and 'essential workers' will bring your groceries. In the Metaverse there is only one kind of currency- digital currency.

The pandemic and everything since the pandemic has been very carefully contrived to get you psychologically to the point where you will willingly buy your Oculus visor and participate after the system launches in February 2024.

The Metaverse is an artificial world, a game, where the Controllers have all the power and where the participants will be sucked into a pseudo-world where fantasies are played out, crime and punishment exists, explorations can be made and these distractions can continue until the Elite are ready to unleash a Meta-Apocalypse on those stuck in this programming...to pull the plug on the system when hundreds of millions are addicted to it, after they have transferred all their holdings and wealth into this false reality. They will effect the largest transference of wealth the world has ever seen when they unleash a cataclysm in the Metaworld. These risks are going to be concealed in their Terms of Service agreements.

The META is Metaverse is a clever use, a term borrowed from the gaming industry, meaning Most Effective Tactics Available. And this is precisely what it is, a weaponized world that will devour its inhabitants. It can't be coincidence that the interface is a visor and the major Plandemic antagonist was Pfizer? Here we find that a pharmaceutical giant created the conditions in the world that would open the gates to the Metaverse.

Which leads us to the End Game.

Any populations that have transited their daily life, occupation and finances into the metaverse will be under the iron fist dominion of those who control the programming. The added danger of a visor dependent interface is the subliminal programming embedded into the optics that will probably be designed to interface with the user to the molecular level. It is also a high probability that the majority of those participants already have in their bodies protocols that strengthen this interface. These were injected during the Plandemic protocols and the vast majority were voluntary.

The end game is going to sound absolutely unbelievable to the un-initiated. But to those of us who have searched, to those of us who have uncovered the masterful teachings of the alchemical treatises, have studied the Occult literature and have found correlates in the Satanic texts that admit this very fact – the end game is that the Elite need human collective participation to open a gate that will let something into our world. It does not matter what your theological background is, we are entering the Apocalypse period. And in this dark time we are told of the opening of the Gate of the Deep.

It is not without significance that the arch fiend that designed this entire scenario is named WILL-I-AM Gates. Bill Gates. A man with no medical training and who is not a doctor but is the leading authority on the pandemic itself. Gates has already widely promoted the Metaverse as a savior of civilization, even explaining how people will live, work and play in this alternate reality.

Steiner would call this the 8th Sphere, as Dawn has informed me.

What if...the Last Days and Great Tribulation programming concerns this Beast System and not the outside world of those who refuse participation? What if the End of the World concerns THAT world and not ours?
